

New Cavotec website online!

Welcome to our new presence on the web. With added functionality and possibilities, this website provides you with all relevant information about us whilst making your visit a pleasurable experience. The most noticeable changes are of course graphically but many things have changed that are not so visible but no less vital.

From today all our publications are online and available for your downloading and we are planning to have our extensive image bank online in the very near future. This will provide you with hundreds of downloadable high resolution images, free of charge.

Naturally, this website undergoes constant updating so we would like remind you to check back soon. If you require any further information about Cavotec or would like to comment on the website please email us at: info@cavotec.com.